COLIDGE WON'T PUSH HUGHES PLAN TO ALLIES

That Plan Is "Best Hope Of Reparations Settlement," As Lloyd-George Says, They Must Assume Initiative.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Coolidge administration will make no further moves to Allied powers to secure approval of the Hughes plan for a settlement of economic experts to determine Germany's ability to pay reparations. It was announced at the White House today.

This government does not propose to assume the initiative in any proposal to settle the reparations problem, a spokesman for the president declared, and if the Hughes plan is accepted it must result from the acquiescence of the Allied powers.

The statement was made in face of the published announcement from London that the ex-premier of England received the Hughes proposal as the "best hope of the settlement of reparations."

Hulsapple Gets Order For Review of His Dismissal

"Suspended," Not Dismissed, Counters Commissioner Greene As Canals Inquiry Is Resumed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 9.—A legal battle has been injected into the probe ordered by Governor Smith into the financial affairs of the state bureau of canals. Hearings in the investigation will be resumed this afternoon in the executive chamber before former Justice Joseph A. Kellogg, of Glens Falls, sitting as a special commissioner under the Moreland Act.

Harry M. Hulsapple, former chief of the audit bureau in the canal department, has secured an order to show cause why he should not be reinstated. Mr. Hulsapple was dismissed by Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, superintendent of the newly created department of public works.

When the order was served on Colonel Greene, the latter announced he had rescinded his original order dismissing Hulsapple. Colonel Greene said today Hulsapple has been "suspended" pending a hearing on charges. What the charges will be, Colonel Greene would not say.

"I won't have Hulsapple in the canal bureau so long as I am superintendent of public works," declared Colonel Greene.

It was Hulsapple who testified at last week's hearing that James E. Doyle of Syracuse, deputy superintendent of canals, had insisted that an excessive bill be paid.

The probe was started by Colonel Greene who claims the bureau of canals was overcharged $25,000 for supplies bought from the General Mill and Contractors Supply Company of Albany since January 1.

It is expected price experts will be called this afternoon to testify as to what was the fair market value of supplies which the state bought of the Albany firm.

The state also is expected to delve into the bank accounts of Deputy Superintendent Doyle and J. William Grady of Syracuse. Grady formerly was employed in the canal bureau. He was dismissed last week by Colonel Greene.

Fire Alarm Instruction to Boys Brings Quick Result

Little Charles Davis Proves He Knows How and Brings Out Department.

Monday and today Deputy Fire Chief Murphy and Secretary Coe of the Chamber of Commerce visited the city schools giving brief talks on fire prevention, and also demonstrating with one of the city fire alarm boxes the proper method to use in turning in a bell alarm in case a fire is discovered.

While the fire chief and Secretary Coe and the big auto truck of the fire department were at School No. 4 in Poughkeepsie this morning several pupils from another school asked Little Charley Davis, 14 years old, of St. Mary's street if he had received any lessons on how to turn in a bell alarm.

Charles's response was prompt and efficient. He stepped to Box No. 49, at the corner of East Union and Chambers street, and turned in an alarm shortly before noon. The fire department's response was also prompt. From School No. 4, the big fire truck with the deputy fire chief and the truck's crew rushed to the scene and other members of the department also responded.

Unfortunately for Charles, however, Officer Roedel and Fire Chief Murphy placed him under arrest on a charge of turning in a false alarm of fire. Owing to Charles's age he will be arraigned later before Judge Fowler in children's court.

STRESEMANN IN ANOTHER RISKY REICHSTAG VOTE

Tension and Hostility as Dictatorship Bill Comes Up in Lower House—Stinnes Drives Against 8-Hour Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—An atmosphere of tension and hostility prevailed today when the Reichstag met to vote on the authorization law granting special powers to the Berlin government.

Communists were opposed to the law and attacked it.

Chancellor Stresemann's government was technically stronger as a result of the two-thirds vote of confidence given to it by the Reichstag last night, but actually it was in the same position as yesterday before the vote.

It was understood that the industrialists in the German People's party were bringing strong pressure on the cabinet to enforce the recent reparations demands of this political group. Hugo Stinnes is a member of this party.

Stinnes, who has been conferring with General Degoutte, commander-in-chief of the French army of occupation in the Ruhr, is understood to have returned to Berlin from Dueseldorf and to be conferring with Chancellor Stresemann.

Stinnes is one of the leaders of the group that has been attacking the eight hour day as one of the sources of Germany's economic troubles.

Press Is The Medium For Consumers, Who Do Not Organize, To Seek And Get Lower Milk Prices

Producer and Distributor Work Cooperatively, King Tells World Dairy Congress.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The press is the medium through which the public may seek and get a cheaper price for milk, Clyde Lyndon King, budget expert of Harrisburg, Penn., declared today in an address before the World's Dairy Congress.

King said that collective bargaining organizations for price conciliation were in vogue among producers, distributors and dairymen, and that while organization of consumers is rare, pressure can be brought to bear upon the price of milk through press campaigns.

"In summing up the situation"

King said, "the producer wants a steady market at a reasonable profit for his work, the distributor wants volume and the corresponding margin, the consumer wants a pure, wholesome food at a reasonable price. Briefly these needs may be satisfied by:

"1. Educational work in the city as to the food value of milk;

"2. Cooperation among producers to get a product worthy of wider public consumption; and

"3. The help of middlemen to keep down costs, both as insurance for stability and to meet public needs, so that a market can be developed with sound competition and fair prices to all."

RE-TRYING SUIT AGAINST O'CONNOR

Scholing Seeks $50,000 for Death of Wife Who Was One of Party Struck by Hobart Man's Car in 1921—Verdict for Plaintiff in Former Trial Reversed in Appellate Division.

An action for $50,000 for loss of life of his wife was taken up this morning in supreme court when William Scholing, as administrator, commenced an action against C. R. O'Connor of Hobart for that amount as the result of Mrs. Scholing's death, following injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the state highway between Phoenixia and Pine Hill on August 12, 1921. At the time of the accident, which took place during the early evening, Mrs. Scholing, a summer boarder at the Blackstone cottage, with her four year old son and four other persons was walking along the state road near the Blackstone cottage. The automobile of Mr. O'Connor was proceeding from Kingston to Hobart, in charge of a chauffeur. Mr. O'Connor and a young lady were on their way from Kingston to their home in Hobart at the time of the accident.

The Packard car of Mr. O'Connor was proceeding at a fair rate of speed, according to both plaintiff and defendant at the time of the accident. The party of six people were walking along the right side of the road when the car approached them from the rear struck the party. Three of the women were seriously injured and were brought to the Benedictine Hospital here for treatment. Mrs. Scholing died two weeks after the accident. Only the small son of Mrs. Scholing escaped injury.

Mr. O'Connor claims that just prior to the accident a car coming south with very brilliant headlights blinded his party and no one saw the party on foot until the car ran into the people. The car was immediately stopped and aid given to the injured. The accident happened just at dusk and the lights were lighted. One witness for plaintiff also testified that the lights were lighted an instant before the car collided with the pedestrians.

At the October term of supreme court last year the case was tried and a verdict in the sum of $9,000 was returned by the jury in favor of plaintiff. An appeal was taken and the appellate division reversed the former verdict and sent the case back for another trial.

Lewis Scholing, father of plaintiff, and O'Connor and Donnellan and Judge William D. Cunningham appear for defendant.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

In the meantime Savage, who police claim, made a startling confession yesterday as the actual killer, is held for the coroner under a murder charge.

EMMONS SEES NO GOOD IN PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 9.—Public ownership of public utilities was denounced today by C. D. Emmons of Baltimore, president of the American Electric Railway Association, in addressing the 42nd annual convention here.

Public ownership, President Emmons declared, "conflicts with the fundamental principle of the American government, it is socialistic, and nine times out of ten is saturated with politics and inefficiency."

"Once established as a principle," he said, "it means the death knell of representative government. We all know what has come of experiments in pure democracy and socialism."

52 Years Ago Today Mrs. O'Leary And Her Cow Laid Groundwork For Fire Prevention Day

Started Greatest Blaze in History of United States, With One Exception—Yearly Loss Mounts.

Fifty-two years ago today Mrs. O'Leary of Chicago carelessly left a lighted lantern in the barn. Her cow kicked it over, setting fire to the barn and starting conflagration which swept the city.

The Chicago fire of 1871 caused a greater loss than had any previous fire in the history of the United States. It has only been surpassed since then by the San Francisco fire of 1906. Two hundred persons lost their lives in the Chicago fire and 70,000 (about one person in every five of the population) were rendered homeless. The flames raged over two thousand acres, destroying more than 17,000 buildings and entailing a property loss of approximately one-third of the city's entire value, or about $190,000,000.

The loss in this great fire was appalling but our country suffers a greater fire loss every year at the present time. It is estimated that last year the lives of more than 15,000 persons were lost and property valued at approximately one-half a billion dollars was destroyed by fires, many of them preventable.

To reduce this tremendous annual destruction it was decided a number of years ago to set aside a day to be known as National Fire Prevention Day. October 9, the anniversary of the starting of the Chicago conflagration, seemed to be a suitable date, and by proclamation of the president of the United States and many state governors, it has been observed for that purpose.

As one day is such a limited time to give to the subject, a period of seven days ending October 13, has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week.

Nation wide attention is being given this year to the observation of the week. Governmental and state officials recognize the need and have lent their assistance to make the fire prevention movement successful. Chambers of Commerce throughout the country, at the request of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, are taking a leading part in conducting special activities designed to acquaint every man, woman and child with the necessity of personal care for the prevention of fires.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can keep them new with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of trouble and destroys the germs that lead to serious complications.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in treatment of chronic coughs and colds, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

WOMAN BAGGED THREE LIONS

Remarkable Example of Fearlessness Given by Wife of a Ranger in South Africa.

The following incident of a woman's bravery and fearlessness is told by a writer in a South African paper. The incident occurred on the Sable reserve. Mrs. D., wife of a ranger who was absent on patrol, was called from her household duties by an excited native shouting "Missus! Missus! the lions have killed a koodoo over there." The lady seized a rifle and a handful of cartridges and walked towards the spot indicated. She saw four lions, at a distance of 200 yards tearing at, and devouring the carcass of a koodoo.

Mrs. D. coolly aimed at the nearest lion and shot it dead; the others paused momentarily, and then resumed feeding. A second shot wounded a lion and this one immediately charged, but a well-aimed shot dropped it dead in its tracks. She killed a third lion, and wounded the fourth; the latter bolted for cover and disappeared in the dense bush.

It was a remarkable feat for a woman to tackle and kill three lions in a few minutes, besides wounding and frightening a fourth away.

TRAPEZE WORK SAVED HIM

Youth's Ability to "Chin Himself" Enabled Him to Reach Roof When Ladder Slipped.

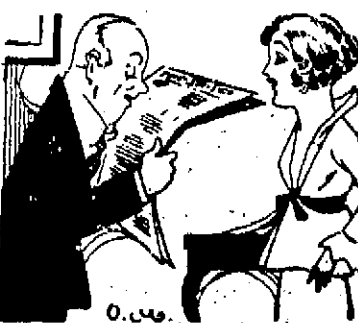

This extraordinary incident actually happened, writes a contributor, some forty years ago near the town of Cadix, O., on the farm known as the Joseph McKee place. Mr. James McConnell, a painter of Cadix, had been employed by Mr. McKee to paint his barn, a tall structure built on a hillside. Mr. McConnell had taken along with him as helper his son Sam, a boy perhaps fifteen years old. The day happened to be windy.

In getting ready to paint the gable they placed a ladder in the bed of a wagon, for the ladder was too short to reach all the way from the ground to the top. The father was at work on one side of the building. The son, who had considerable confidence in himself, prepared to paint from the ladder. But as he reached the top a severe sweep of wind caused the ladder to slip. He reached up and caught the edge of the roof and hung there while the ladder fell to the ground. Knowing that he surely should be killed if he dropped from such a height, Sam made a supreme effort to reach the roof. At last he succeeded, though he was so exhausted that he had to wait some little time before climbing down.

It seems almost a miracle that he did not fall with the ladder. As a matter of fact, for several years he had exercised daily on a trapeze at home, and he was noted among his companions as the only boy at school who could chin himself with one hand.

Fresh-Water Springs in Ocean.

There is a fountain of fresh water which bubbles up through the salt water of the Atlantic south of Cuba, and another such phenomenon on the coast of Italy. In both cases the water comes from springs that are fed from below the ocean-bed and which trickle for miles, perhaps, under the surface of the earth, then, not finding an outlet, break through the bottom of the ocean. As by nature, fresh water is lighter than salt water, it rises to the surface, just as cream rises on milk. And also, since the water of these springs comes down from great heights, it is bound to seek to rise as high as its source.

Vain Search for Buried Money.

Ten years ago a farmer from Iowa settled in Longbank, Sask., where he bought a farm. He had $5,000, paid $1,500 on the farm, and being a non-believer in banks, buried the remaining $3,500 in a field. He told no one where it was concealed. During that winter he was frozen to death, and with him died the secret of the hiding place of the money. For the past decade his family have organized many futile searches for the lost treasure. Every conceivable place has been dug up, stones moved and hunches followed, but still the hoard remains safe from everyone.

BOOM TOWN NEARS ITS END

Only Two Inhabitants, Both Aged, Are Left Within Precincts of Bald Mountain, Colo.

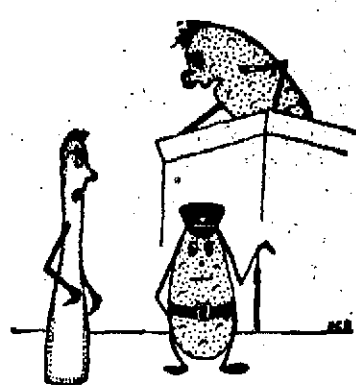

Bald Mountain, in Colorado, has only two people, the chief of police and the postmaster. Not so many years ago it was a thriving mining town, but when the mines gave out the people left until only two remain. William Dickerson was mayor of Bald Mountain for 27 years. He held the office so long that to re-elect him term after term became merely a matter of routine. Dickerson died a few months ago in Central City, Colo. He had given up the job of being mayor in Bald Mountain, having gotten tired of it. Then, too, there were a few people left, it was hardly worth while being mayor any more.

After Dickerson went away there were four people in Bald Mountain. Two of them ran for mayor. One man got his own vote and that of his uncle. The other man got his own vote and that of the fourth man. It was necessary to hold another election. Someone "backslid" and one candidate got three votes and the other man got one vote.

There were three jobs for the other three men. One became justice of the peace, another chief of police, and the third postmaster. The mayor and the justice of the peace departed the town, leaving the chief of police and the postmaster to hold the fort.

Today a hundred dwellings are still standing in Bald Mountain. But only the footfalls of two men, one sixty-two years old and the other in his eighties, are heard on the sidewalks. They say they will stick to the town until they pass away, and with them will pass Bald Mountain, once a boom mining town with thirteen saloons and only two churches.

THE MASHER

Judge—Officer, what's the charge? Officer—Mashing potatoes, your honor, on the public streets.

Valuable Spring.

Near Moscow, Sask., a farmer reports that he has a spring in a deep ravine, that is usually running over the crib for a couple of months in spring and gradually lowers through the summer until there is only about a level of water of one and a half feet from October to Christmas. The well is about nine feet in depth. As soon as the real cold weather starts, it rises again and starts running over usually by January 15 and keeps running over as the farmer uses the well, breaking the ice about four times a day. When fairly mild, it does not freeze over, but ten below always freezes it up. The constant overflow in winter keeps freezing and ice forms above it until there is about twenty feet between the top of the ice hole and the bottom of the well, thus furnishing a good supply of ice for the summer.

Another Mystery of the Sea.

A "special detective" of the sea was caught when a big codfish was pulled in off Pandanaram, Mass. The fish was found to have in its stomach a silver badge one-half inch in diameter, with a big star and the words "Special Detective" in the center of a circle. Speculation is rife wherever fishermen gather as to whether the cod ate and digested the detective but was unable to assimilate the badge, whether he bit off the badge in preference to the detective, or whether the detective went fishing and lost overboard his insignia of office.

Handcuffed Bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Percival Wilson set out on their honeymoon from Bridgeton, N. J., with the bridegroom's left hand shackled to the right hand of the bride. The key to the handcuffs was in Mr. Wilson's pocket. The explanation was the happy couple's fear that some of their friends might try to separate them after the wedding. It is considered a good joke in Bridgeton to start the bride away on a north-bound train and the bridegroom on one bound south.

It's Much Better to Go Away.

If a wise man contendeth with a foolish man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no rest.—Solomon.

Do Not Dispute.

Many happy families are kept happy by not disputing, but simply doing as one likes.

This is ARCOLA WEEK

See
tonight!

Many Heating Contractors who display this sign are keeping their stores open evenings this week, so that husbands and wives can see Arcola together.

But, only 38 homes in KINGSTON can have ARCOLA

THIS SMALL number of Arcolas allotted to this city will be sold this week—ARCOLA WEEK. Because of the shortage of heating equipment, no more Arcolas will be available until Spring.

We have not advanced the price. While they last, you can buy ARCOLA at these low prices, $180 to $550, completely installed, depending on the number of rooms in your home.

Think what this means! An American Radiator in every room; no rooms too hot; no rooms too cold; every room evenly warmed. And if your home is not warmed by radiators, ARCOLA will cut your bill a third and pay for itself in the money you save.

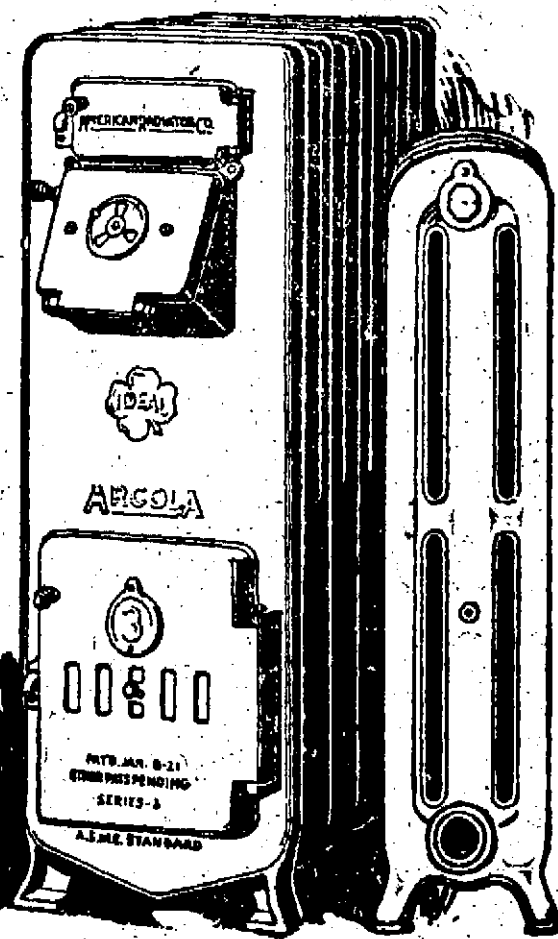

This is a great opportunity for a few homes. Will yours be one of the few? Go to your Heating Contractor today—or this evening; let him tell you just what ARCOLA will cost completely installed in your home, and how quickly and easily it can be put in.

Go, before they're gone.

VENUE MEN BLACK SPEED BOATS

Limit Recognition Not to Aid Movement Very Much While Runners Can Run Rings around Revenue Cutters.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The war boat smuggling off the American coasts will not be aided by Britain's recognition of the 12-limit unless congress provides funds to equip swifter government revenue cutters, officials of the department said today. The most drawback in the sea campaign against the liquor ships is the lack of the chasers they said.
The revenue cutter service has a vessel swift enough to match speed of the craft used by rum runners off New York and other ports of the Atlantic coast. This is the cutter Seneca. What is needed, said a half dozen equally able to set up a constant patrol. Efficient also are needed at other important locations along the coast.
Congress should spend at least $50,000 to equip and maintain a powerful coast guard fleet to not only with rum smugglers, but also importers of narcotics and other contraband, officials declared.

Enjoined a Trouble Breeder.

In many ways the American form of government is doubtless better than that which Spain imposed upon her people. Nevertheless there are times when we could take a lesson in direct government from an incident of the colonial days of Peru.

"Since the arrival at Quito of a certain attorney, Bachiler Guevara," related the Cabillo de Quito, "many have been stirred up whereby, as there is no other attorney in the town, any persons might lose their legal rights."

Therefore the said Bachiler Guevara
forbade to exercise his profession, to give advice or his opinion on any controversy or matter of litigation, under penalty of 100 pesos for the first offense and one year's banishment for second offense."

Why Do We Live?

Some of the inhabitants of the remote parts of central China have the idea that the greater the number of religious beliefs they profess the more certain are their chances in the next life. Members of the London Missionary society, who addressed a series of questions to the working-class population in these districts, received many original opinions as to the purpose of life. Some described it as "to enjoy health and happiness, and to make a living." Many others stated that it was a matter of preparing for the next life, and to "give glory to one's ancestors," while one man declared that the chief object of existence was "to die painless."

The Round Robin.

The practice of the round robin has been supposed to have originated among the officers of the French army. They adopted this system of protecting themselves in making known their differences to the king and parliament.
It was a case of preferring to "hang together rather than separately." The word "round robin" itself is generally considered of French origin. Some authorities derive it from the French word "round," and "ruban," meaning ribbon. The word "ruban" probably had reference to the material on which the military protests were written. The round robin has become a common political practice in nearly every country in the world.

Trinitrotoluene.

T. N. T. is an abbreviation for tri-nitro-toluene, a very powerful explosive used in shells, mines, hand grenades and torpedoes. It is formed from toluene by treatment of this hydrocarbon with strong nitric acid in the presence of concentrated sulphuric acid. Toluene is one of the products of the distillation of coal tar. T. N. T. is a white crystalline solid, soluble in ordinary temperatures it is insoluble; it burns with a smoky flame when ignited. In its chemical composition the molecule of trinitrotoluene consists of seven carbon atoms, seven hydrogen atoms, three nitrogen atoms and six oxygen atoms.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

Include Fire Prevention Film and Appropriate Feature at Keene's.

At Keene's theatre Wednesday and Thursday will be shown "The Danger That Never Sleeps," a thrilling fire film which emphasizes the necessity for "Fire Prevention Week," which began Monday. Shown with it will be Alice Calhoun in "The Midnight Alarm," a Vitaphone production of thrills and romance. Miss Calhoun rode with a battalion chief to a blaze to get real insight into the life and duties of a fireman.

At Keene's tonight Pola Negri's
"Mad Love" will be the attraction.
Last night's audience was greatly impressed by the great emotional power of the drama and the acting of the star and her leading support.
Pola plays the role of Sappho, a notorious woman, using her dark, alluring beauty and telling grace to captivate the senses of men. She is slain in the end by Andreas, who loves her madly, in turn being genuinely infatuated with his brother, Richard.

The Opera House is running vaudeville, a description of which will be found in another column, this week.

DEMOCRATS TO ASSAULT TARIFF

La Follette Group Expected To Help Drive on McCumber Act Which Is Claimed To Deplete Farmer of Foreign Markets and Make Him Pay Dearly For What He Buys.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 9.—An alliance of Democrats and progressive Republicans may result in complete revision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill by the next congress, in favor of the American farmer it was learned today.

Charging the present "high tariff wall" was primarily responsible for current farm depression, Democratic leaders were reported to be lining up with Republicans in the so-called "La Follette group" to force a resumption of the tariff war as soon as congress reconvenes. The movement gained headway when President Coolidge himself ordered the United States tariff commission to launch an investigation of rates on farm products to determine whether farmers were being discriminated against by the existing law.

The Democratic viewpoint was revealed today by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, a leader of opposition to enactment of the present law. Fletcher charged the McCumber act had destroyed foreign markets for the American farmer while forcing him to pay "war peak prices" for everything he purchased in home markets.

"The trouble with agriculture is caused primarily by the high tariff wall," said Fletcher. "The farmer asks only fair and just treatment but he is not accorded it under the present tariff law. The deflation policy persisted in by those in command of credits and finance had caused a shrinkage in value of farm property which amounted to $9,000,000,000 last year.

"On top of this, the purchasing power of the farmers' products decreased nearly one third and the cost of production in labor and supplies remained the same. Then the tariff act was passed which ruined all foreign markets for American farm products and the farmer today faces a situation wherein the more he produces, the greater is his financial loss.

"The tariff act has wiped out European markets for the farmer. Countries which are unable to pay gold for American goods cannot trade with us in commodities because the tariff wall practically excludes their goods. European nations can trade on an even basis with Canada or Australia or Russia even, and they do, to the loss of our American farmers.

"A second effect of the tariff wall was to make the farmer pay war time peak prices for his farm implements, fertilizers, machinery and other supplies. At the same time the tariff in no way increased the value of his products. The fact is that values of farm products have decreased in home markets since the tariff was passed.

"There should be a revision downward of the whole tariff act and this would solve the agricultural problem. The farmer does not care what price is paid for his products so long as their purchasing power is raised to the level of that pertaining in other industries. There undoubtedly will be an attempt made in the next congress to give the farmer justice under the tariff law."

BETTING LIGHT WITH YANKEES SLIGHT FAVORITES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 9.—Odds on the world series continued to favor the Yankees today, 11 to 10 being the general price quoted with little Yankee money in sight. It was said the backers of the club were waiting for the odds to go to even money before placing their bets.

The firm of Darnell and Company has reported placing $5,000 on the Giants at odds of six to five, taking the short end, and a bet of $3,000 against $2,500 that the Giants will win the first game.

J. S. Fred and Company is authority for the statement that it has placed $11,000 to $10,000 on the Yankee while C. B. DeChadenes and Company, reported several wagers, the largest of which was $5,500 laid against $5,000 that the Yanks will win.

The betting commissioners also report that speculation on the series is not confined to New York, commissions having been received from Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

A.F.O.F.L. SQUELCHES RADICAL MOVES

Communist Expelled From Convention By Overwhelming Vote—Third Party, Soviet Recognition, Klan and Fascist Contemned.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 9.—Flushed with victory so complete as to remove all doubt as to their strength, administration forces of the American Federation of Labor were prepared today to clean the slate of radical theories advanced before the 43rd annual convention.

The dramatic expulsion of William F. Durne, self styled Communist, of Butte, Mont., left no doubt, as to organized labor's attitude toward red propaganda and efforts to "bore from within the labor movement." Durne was removed by the overwhelming vote of 27,828 to 139.

The ousting of Durne appeared to have sealed the fate of the resolution favoring recognition of Soviet Russia and organization of a third party for labor. The amalgamation plan, also considered to be one of the possible storm centers of the convention, was defeated with no one to champion it after Durne was unseated.

Soviet recognition and a third party for labor are before the convention today on the report of the committee on resolutions. The committee as in the case of amalgamation will ask non-concurrence in the resolutions and it is said that little if any opposition will be voiced by delegates.

Step by step the report of the resolutions committee was adopted: The Ku Klux Klan was denounced as an "insidious movement, detrimental to the interests of American citizenship." The Fascist movement also was denounced. Recommendation was made that the United States Railroad Board be abolished.

The convention also approved the report calling for the election by the people of all federal judges and for curbing the "unlimited powers of the supreme court."

PAPYRUS SPEED IS CONCEALED IN WORKOUTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 9.—In his first workout over a distance since coming to this country, Papyrus, English champion, went a mile and a quarter at Belmont Park at a slow gallop this morning in preparation for his match race with Zev on October 20. The English colt was clocked in 2:18 but the time element was not important because the horse was under the strongest kind of a pull from first to last.

The decision of Basil Jarvis, the trainer, to keep Papyrus' speed under cover came as a disappointment to several thousand early morning visitors to the track.

CASE SETTLED

In Which Whitehead and Kellys Were Accused—An O'Connor Case on Day Calendar—Many Trial Jurors Excused to Harvest Crops.

The October term of supreme court which convened at the court house Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock will be in session but three weeks as Judge Charles E. Nichols, presiding justice, will be unable to devote more than that time to the present term on account of business in other places.

A grand and a trial jury is in attendance at the present term of court. Clinton H. Fingar of Saugerties was chosen as foreman of the grand jury. Four of the members of the grand jury were excused—R. A. Burton of Wapping, Frank Kniffm of Lloyd, Frank W. Terwilliger of Lloyd and J. Calvin Wygant of Marlborough.

Practically every member of the trial jury presented excuses to the court and half of the panel was excused. Many of those who were excused were fruit growers who are busy harvesting their apple and pear crops and other fruit.

The call of the calendar resulted in a great many of the 316 cases on the calendar being put over the term and still a larger number being marked "reserve." The following cases were announced as settled: Sadie Newgold vs. Kendall Kelly and other, an action for assault. This action grew out of an alleged assault which took place at the Newgold Hotel at Woodstock some time ago when the proprietor and his wife allege the Kelly brothers and a son of Ralph R. Whitehead of Woodstock assaulted them after a dispute in the hotel over the use of a telephone. N. H. Fessenden appeared for plaintiff and C. J. Flanagan and Philip Elting for defendants.

An action brought by S. Duffy, as guardian, against Moran Towing and Transportation Company, a negligence action, was marked reserve although Judge William D. Cunningham stated that the case was practically settled. Philip A. Rorty appears for defendant.

Other cases settled were: Sarah A. Brown vs. George L. Kerbert, a negligence action. Grant M. Brinnier for plaintiff and Philip Elting for defendant. L. F. Bannion Plumbing, Heating and Contracting Company vs. Augusta Rahders, action on mechanics' lien. M. H. Fessenden for plaintiff and F. W. Brooks for defendant. William Miller vs. Samuel Schulman. W. D. and W. D. Brinnier, Jr., for plaintiff and William A. Earl for defendant. Leo V. Grogan vs. Axel L. Peterson, an action on contract. W. H. Grogan for plaintiff and White & White for defendant.

The matter of proving the last will and testament of the late Richard T. Spellman of Saugerties, one of the preferred causes, was put over the term. This case was taken up at a former term of court and during the trial printed literature of an anti-Catholic nature was discovered distributed in the jury room and about the court house. This resulted in a mistrial. At the second trial the jury returned a verdict to the effect that Mr. Spellman was not competent to make a will and this verdict was set aside by Judge Rosch. The case was again put upon the calendar of the present term of court among the preferred causes. Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr. asked that the case go over the term as the witnesses were out of the county and on other grounds. This motion was granted by the court upon payment of witness and term fees.

A day calendar was then made up with the following cases on the calendar for the day:

No. 4, W. Schilling, as administrator vs. C. R. O'Connor, et al. An action for personal injuries growing out of the automobile accident when Mr. O'Connor's automobile ran into a crowd of people near Big Indian.

No. 35, Patrick B. Miele vs. Ulster & Delaware Railroad, a negligence action. F. W. Brooks for plaintiff and H. H. Fleming for defendant.

No. 12, Peter A. Donnelly vs. Emma Peters Gaskie, action on contract. N. H. Fessenden for plaintiff. V. B. Van Wageningen for defendant.

No. 138, Benjamin H. Gold vs. city of Kingston and others, personal injuries. Knapp & Sherman for plaintiff. Grant M. Brinnier for defendant.

No. 175, Thermo Mills, Inc. vs. Lankisky. Coffin & Coffin for plaintiff. Frank W. Brooks for defendant.

No. 215, C. D. Farnam, et al. vs. William Hill, action for money had and received. A. D. & A. W. Lent for plaintiff and Jacob Bernstein for defendant.

Ring Solves War Mystery.
A mother's gift of a ring has been the means of solving a seven-year-old war mystery. After the first battle of the Somme, in July, 1916, Donald Poulter of the London rifle brigade was reported missing. He was known to have been one of a party surrounded by the enemy, but no information as to his fate was forthcoming.

His mother has now been informed by the war graves commission that the body of her son has been found. It was identified by means of a ring which had belonged to his dead father and had been given to Poulter by his mother on the eve of his leaving for France.

Sleeves and Necks and Effect of Cooler Days

Only a hint of cold weather was needed to send arms under cover so far as women are concerned. Sleeves have appeared as if by magic, and even when short sleeves or sleeveless frocks were worn, arms that have been bare all summer are covered by gloves.

Some compromised by the addition of little double puffs, two puffs to each arm, attached at the shoulders. These are of plaited georgette and come midway to the elbow.

Sleeves on afternoon costumes in most instances are long and tight, coming well over the hand, as the Paris mode prescribes. Neck lines however, continue to follow the canoe type with open gunwales—that is, the hem stands well away from the neck and shoulders. Sometimes a standing collar is a feature.

GOOD HIGHWAYS

Large Problem Faced Is

Durability of Highways

In my travels over the United States I have been most favorably impressed by the great strides in highway improvements made in many states, writes L. G. Fairbank in an exchange.

One gratifying feature is the determination of national, state and county authorities to have real highways, not merely makeshifts. They have profited by experience and realize that to meet the transportation conditions the highways must be constructed accordingly.

In the old days of transportation on steam roads we had the narrow gauge lines with small engines and cars. Heavier loads meant economy in transportation and naturally heavier loads meant heavier cars and locomotives. To meet this situation, however, improvements had to be made in roadbeds and a different type of steel rails had to be provided. This situation exists today in our transportation over the state and national highways. We must have a different program of road construction and that is just what is going on virtually everywhere.

Often it is thought that heavy vehicles, carrying heavy loads, are responsible for the deplorable condition of some highways. We have seen photographic and other proof of the wrecking of roads. We have seen the calamitous condition of pavements smashed by pressure of some kind. What is the answer?

In the fall we find some roads as models of durability. In the spring they are wrecks. Meanwhile heavy trucks had been driven over them. Could there be a superficially plain case of cause and effect? It was obvious that to save the roads the trucks and the loads must be made lighter.

On some stretches of the road where the collapse of the pavements is most discouraging, nothing goes wrong. There the trucks do not crush the concrete or buckle the brick pavements. The loads are precisely the same that are hauled over other stretches of the road. The same wheels of the same vehicles roll over sections that stand up under the test that roll over the strips that gave way. What, then, is responsible?

Is it the weight of the loads or is it the manner in which the road was constructed? Is it the way the builders failed to adapt their work to the conditions they had to deal with? Is it that soil and drainage, materials and construction methods did not get proper attention?

When one road along a sandy ridge, with good, natural drainage, comes through a hard winter scarcely the worse for wear and another road in the same district and the same climate, carrying the same traffic, with the same truck loads, but with spots in which the subsoil is wet and there is no natural drainage, is found in a state of collapse after the frost comes out of the ground, what is the logical conclusion? Is it lighter loads or closer attention to drainage and other important features entering into the construction of our highways?

Isn't the remedy to be sought in the more scientific adjustments of the highways to the natural changes in the direction of larger vehicle units and more economical transportation on the public roads? The question is vital to the solution of the whole problem of country highways, their construction and maintenance. It is of immense importance to all producers and consumers. It is a basic transportation problem for America's millions of people who want to do the sensible thing and the right thing by all interested.

The trend is strongly along this line and that is why highway construction in 1923 is far in advance of such work done in years gone by.

When Is a Bad Highway

a Good One Is Question

When is a bad road a good road? And when is a good road a bad road? Questions seemingly foolish, that are asked by H. R. Leonard, an authority on automobiles, in all seriousness, and then answered by him with considerable logic.

"Many motorists," he says, "think of a road with a macadam, concrete or asphalt surface as 'good' without considering any other feature of travel over it. A road should not be judged by its surface alone, however. Some of the so-called bad roads with their cleaner air and picturesque scenery loom up as vastly more desirable for enjoyable motoring than the over-traveled highways that parallel them. In these modern times when the motorist rides on long flexible springs and his car is equipped with efficient devices for checking spring recoil, he can easily gypsy trails and country turnpikes with complete confidence. If his automobile is properly equipped he will ride in comfort at most any pace he chooses."

Trying New Road Surface.

A new kind of road surface is being experimented with in Manchester, England. Concrete blocks, six inches square and three inches deep, with a top plate of cast iron a quarter of an inch in width, are being laid.

Question as to Subway.

Why spend $20,000 a mile to build good roads that lead 35 automobile riders to death at railroad crossings in one day? Why not have the roads cross either over or under the railroad tracks?

How X-Ray Has Been Developed.

According to competent medical authority, new developments in X-ray movies have been achieved by the use of a new method of sensitizing the photographic plate so as to record new wave lengths never before photographed.

OLD WOOD SHIPS OF NAVY

Tennessee Was Equipped With Both Sails and Steam—Veteran Seamen Mistrusted New Inventions.

His 46 years in the service were spent during the navy's transitional times. When he entered the Naval Academy all of our war vessels were wooden sailing ships; his midshipman's cruises were made aboard the Constellation—she was so low between decks that only a half-grown boy could stand erect; so badly ventilated through her tiny portholes that one's mouth tasted like a copper penny in the morning—but, oh, the satisfying beauty of those old full-rigged sailing ships! The admiral's thoughts went yearningly back to the memory of the towering, sun-drenched, white sails and colorful old hulls coming up like gulls across the horizon line over the rim of the world; the ultimate perfection of grace, symmetry and romance.

"The navy's always been conservative!" decided the admiral, affectionately remembering the old-time commodores who, through wide and varied experience, had come to have a ripe knowledge and respect for the ways of the wind, and who entertained neither interest nor enthusiasm where innovations were concerned. Steam did not intrigue them; they mistrusted it and took grudging chances with this new motive power; sails were retained as a guarantee of sanity and safety long after the use of steam had progressed far beyond the experimental stage. . . . The admiral chuckled, recalling the old Tennessee—which carried just enough coal to steam out of port; then, at the harbor's mouth, dumped the fires and hoisted her faithful sails, as did all the vessels of that early fleet—Hampahannock, Boston, Galena, Philadelphia, Yantic, Quinnebog, Swatara—the admiral named them over to himself like a well-beloved rosary, and exulted in the precious memory of those gallant years when sails were still spread, adventure still flourished and fighting men still looked their adversaries in the eyes—instead of shooting impersonally at them from 12 miles away!

"I've lived too long!" decided the admiral with grimness; then smiled ruefully at the sudden remembrance of his first cruise aboard the Bear; detailed to search around Alaska for Greely's missing ship—Harriet Welles in Scribner's.

Seeking the Sun God's Home.

Carnac (in Brittany) was probably to the western continent of Europe what Stonehenge was to the British Isles. There is at that place, in fact, a focus and concentration of the megalithic works left by the Celtic fore-runners in their prehistoric migration which, starting in Asia, moved across northern Africa, over Mediterranean waters, into Spain, and along the shores of the Atlantic, constantly striving westward to find the resting place of their god, the sun, but ever baffled by the impassable ocean, and so forced northward, until the effort died out in Scandinavia. Their long sojourn near these shores covered at least 2,000 years. The weapons and implements placed in the sepulchers lose their rough but serviceable character and appear in polished but merely native forms, often in soft or valuable stone.—National Geographic Magazine.

AUTO ASSOCIATION PROGRAM OF 1924

Convention Topics Will Include Licensing All Drivers and Putting All Auto Matters Into Hands of State Police—Headlight Law a Joke in Its Enforcement.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 9.—Qualification and licensing of every operator of an automobile and legislation to remedy the present deplorable state of affairs regarding automobile traffic in this state, will be among the important topics of the 20th annual convention of the New York State Automobile Association at Gloversville and Johnstown on October 22-23.

Very probably the meeting will strongly recommend a separate motor vehicle department or transfer of the state automobile bureau to the state police as a remedy for conditions which so far this year are responsible for the sacrifice of 1,766 human lives, to say nothing of the thousands of men, women and children injured or maimed for life and the destruction of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property by the incompetent and reckless operation of automobiles, lack of proper regulations and centralized authority and organization to carry out the enforcement of the law.

Herbert W. Baker, secretary of the association said, "Glaring headlights are more numerous and dangerous than ever, until it has become recognized as an exceedingly hazardous occupation to drive an automobile on the highways of this state after sundown. Notwithstanding the fact that the tax commission disapproved of about 100 devices and lenses in use in this state a year ago, apparently no effort whatever has been made to check up automobiles or to enforce these regulations. The conference of motor vehicle commissioners of Mass., Conn., N. J., Del., N. Y. and other states revised the lists of efficient devices last April, and all of these states have enforced the regulations, except New York state, which, even after six months' time, has not even issued a revised list of devices, which were agreed upon at the conference, nor is any effort being made to remedy the situation in this state. At a recent test under the Public Safety Department of the city of Syracuse, out of one thousand cars in the city checked up by the Public Safety Commissioner, only four automobiles were found to have legal headlights. This is a fair criterion of the situation throughout the state and it will continue so until it is somebody's particular business to see that the Headlight and other Motor Vehicle Laws are rigidly enforced."

The question of snow removal will also be a live topic. While the law permits boards of supervisors to provide funds for the clearing of snow from the highways, only a comparatively small number of the boards of supervisors of the state attempted in any way to keep the snow cleared and to maintain passable highways in their counties. For the most part, it was left to the local automobile clubs of the state association to keep the roads passable in their respective communities.

The business sessions of the convention will be held in the court house at Johnstown. A very enjoyable entertainment program has been arranged by President Hamilton and Chairman Collins of the convention committee of the Automobile Club of Fulton county, which includes a banquet and dance on the evening of October 22.

Governor Smith, Colonel Grease, Major Chandler, Judge Fish, of the New York traffic court, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Goodwin of Massachusetts, are among the prominent speakers expected to attend the banquet, as well as representatives from the Canadian Automobile Association. Headquarters will be established at the Kingsborough Hotel, Gloversville, where all delegates and guests will register, and it has been expected that the convention will be largely attended by representatives and guests of the 143 local automobile clubs which compose the state association.

GUESS CHINA'S POPULATION

Post Office Estimates 436,064,953 Persons Live in Province.

China has a population of 436,064,953, according to the annual report of the Chinese post office at Shanghai. The figure is only a vague estimate, compiled from reports of provincial offices, as no systematic method of census taking is followed in China outside the foreign concessions.

See Chwan, in the western part of China, is the most populous province, being credited with having 48,782,810 inhabitants.

Honan, Shantung and Chihli provinces follow in the order named, each having more than 30,000,000 population.

To women who must be careful-

HOW disheartening it is to find that the scales are correct; that one really weighs a few pounds more—those few pounds that make such a difference in one's whole appearance!

But you can reduce—without hunger or discomfort.

Be careful to avoid wheat breads and other fattening breadstuffs. Instead, make these delicious "Slim-Jane Biscuits" and "Slim-Jane Muffins", making them yourself, so that you know they have the minimum of fuel value. Why not try them today?

NOTE: And try beating a pint of evaporated milk into a pound of butter, substituting it for rich whole butter. It tastes good and will not increase your weight.

"Slim-Jane Biscuits"

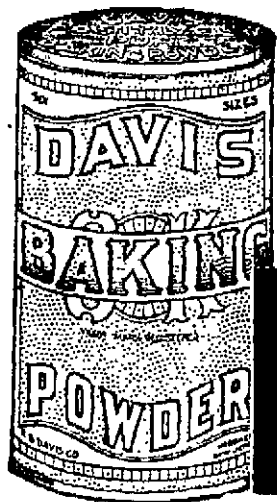

2 c. graham flour 2 tb. shortening
4 ts. Davis Baking Powder 1/2 to 1 c. skimmed milk
1/4 ts. salt

Thoroughly mix the Davis Baking Powder and salt with the flour, rub in the shortening with finger tips, or cut in with knife, gradually add the milk, mixing lightly. On floured board, roll to 1/2" thickness, shape with cutter and bake in hot oven 12 to 15 minutes.

"Slim-Jane Muffins"

2 c. clean bran 1/2 c. sweetening (molasses preferred)
1 c. whole wheat flour 1 1/2 c. skimmed milk
3 ts. Davis Baking Powder 1 egg—beaten
1 ts. salt 1/4 lb. melted shortening

Mix in order given, sifting flour, Davis Baking Powder and salt together. Bake in hot oven (400° F) 20 to 25 minutes, in greased muffin tin.

Married Men

YOUR wife knows how provoking it is to work with starch that forms a thick, sticky jelly when it cools, and smears and clots, and makes her iron stick.

All these drawbacks to easy, satisfactory work have now been overcome with Linit, the new starch discovery. Linit is a scientific starch—distinctly different from ordinary starches. After Linit is thoroughly dissolved according to directions and is ready for use, it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance.

Tell your wife to use Linit according to directions, and unlike other starches, she will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches, and is much easier to iron with.

You, too, will be delighted with the soft, pliable, linen finish Linit gives to your shirts and soft collars.

Linit penetrates the fabric, helps prevent wear, and prolongs the life of the material.

Ask your grocer for a 10c package of Linit and have your wife begin the modern way of starching.

How to Make Mirrors

Create Cheerfulness

Adroit mirror usage in the small, rather shadowed hall creates an atmosphere of cheerfulness. Place within its range a bowl of pretty flowers, roses, or simple garden blooms and note the brightening effect that the reflection of their colors creates. From another angle the gay chintz hangings at one of the living room windows, glimpsed through the open door, are repeated in the mirror surface, supplying a vivid touch to the somber wall on which the mirror hangs. The value of a mirror in such a spot cannot be overestimated, so if your hall is a bit shadowy, by all means employ a mirror to give the needed brightening touch.

In rooms facing the north, in which the sun refuses to shine during the long winter months, use a mirror in conjunction with touches of orange or red. No colors bring such a warmth of tone as orange or red, yet they are infrequently employed, because they are so little understood. Let us suppose our choice for effect is orange, our bedroom and our wall covering putty tones. Hang the mirror above the black chest of drawers which shows as decoration narrow bands of orange. Choose an orange runner for the bureau top, softened at the end with blendings of old blue. Repeat these tints in the curtain hangings, and on the floor lay a two-tone blue rug. Introduce a predominance of orange in the chair cushions, and hang within range of the mirror a wall pocket of blue luster filled with a tangle of orange bitter-sweet vine. Border the blue bedspreads in orange, and then behold the result! The vivid orange will be repeated from every angle in the mirror's reflecting surface, bringing the glint of sunlight to add a welcome touch, but its vividness will not be overemphasized, thanks to the toning influence of the ebony and the softening shadows of blue.—Arts and Decoration.

Crocheting, National Time-Killing Sport

A young and fairly intelligent married woman, on a yacht cruise, was observed by a male passenger to be busy with a crochet needle and a big spool of heavy thread making little wheels, which were put together to make big wheels, which in turn were to be combined some day in the grand sum total of a marvelous white bedspread, made of millions of stitches.

She sat, hour after hour, day after day, fingers flitting and eyes fixed on the work in her lap, oblivious to the beauty of the sky, water and forest. She had sailed presumably for a vacation outdoors. "I figured on making two of these a day," she explained proudly, "but I have done better than that. I may get the spread done in less than two years. I know a woman who was offered $1,000 for one."

She didn't need the $1,000, either. Her husband would have gladly given her that much to stop her eternal crocheting and take an interest in life.

Not all women seem to be profligate by the new leisure they have won.—Norfolk News.

Being Likable

The recipe for making Likers calls for no rare material; all I need lies right before me and around me in the opportunities of doing truthful, just, kind things by those I deal with. The recipe calls for no rare element, and the mixing and the making take no one day in the week. There is baking day, sweeping day, washing day, but no friend-making day. It is Monday's, Tuesday's, Wednesday's work, and lasts through Saturday and Sunday and the 28th of February.—William C. Gannett.

RETIREES AFTER 56 YEARS' WORK

Spencer C. Rodgers, Veteran Court Stenographer, Voluntarily Retires After More Than Half Century of Continuous Service.

The state has granted the voluntary application for retirement of S. C. Rodgers, of Troy and Albany, an official stenographer of the supreme court of this judicial district, effective October 6th, after a continuous service of exactly 56 years. Mr. Rodgers having been originally designated by Justices Ingalls, Peckham, Sr., Miller and Hogeboom in 1867.

Mr. Rodgers is the dean of his profession in New York state, if not in the United States. The firm of Rodgers & Ruso, composed of Mr. Rodgers and the late James M. Ruso, and its successor, composed of Mr. Rodgers, John E. Kelly, George A. Murray and William M. Murray, is probably the oldest firm of reporters in this country, having existed forty-one years.

Mr. Rodgers was for many years the official reporter of the Rensselaer and Saratoga county courts, and the courts of Rutland and Bennington counties, Vt., and in 1875 was the official reporter for the assembly of the state of New York. The justices have appointed Charles M. Ellison, of Monticello, to fill the vacancy.

During the many years he has reported trials in the supreme court in Ulster county, Mr. Rodgers always has been popular with the lawyers of Ulster county. He possessed a marvelous memory and could recall details of important cases many years after they had been tried.

During his fifty-six years' service as court reporter, Mr. Rodgers reported much of the important litigation of the Third Judicial District. His mind was stored with numerous stories of wit and humor which had occurred in the court room, or in trials before judges at special terms of the supreme court, and he always has been one of the most entertaining conversationalists who have visited Kingston.

Mr. Rodgers has produced many papers and pamphlets, most of which have been read before the members of the New York State Stenographers' Association. These papers have dealt with a variety of subjects associated with the profession of stenography and court reporting. Some of his papers necessarily were somewhat prosaic but all of them have been characterized by brilliant wit and keen sarcastic comment.

During his fifty-six years of continuous service as a court stenographer, Mr. Rodgers has witnessed many political changes in the judiciary of the state, particularly in the Third Judicial District and his work brought him into closer personal acquaintance with a greater number of judges than any other man in New York state.

Mr. Rodgers always has enjoyed coming to Kingston, and his Ulster county friends trust that he will devote to this city and county some of the spare time which he always has promised he would give in the event of his retirement from active court work.

Choose Furs That Suit Complexion

Coloring and Character of Peltry Should Be Considered.

Most women in selecting a fur piece decide upon the color before they even set out to shop. The individual coloring and character of the fur should be taken into consideration as well as the wearing quality, says the Kansas City Star. Colors should be chosen to suit the complexion and hair. For some faces the dead black lynx would be inappropriate, while the dark brown seal or brownish black skunk might be very becoming.

If your hair is dark you should choose a light gray, or a cream tan fur. Women with light hair can wear with great success furs that are slick and black and shiny. With brown eyes, choose a deep, rich brown fur; with clear, light blue eyes, you could wear with excellent effect what is known as blue fox, with its deep lights that match the hue of your own eyes.

For instance, you may desire an American black fox or black Canadian lynx, but not feel that you can pay so much. In which case you go farther down the list, and select black wolf, black dogskin, black coney, or any one of the intermediate furs. They are classified according to their color, character and costliness, but not according to durability.

If you want a brown, short-haired fur, with a darker stripe running through the center, there are Russian sable, Hudson Bay sable, Siberian kolinsky, Japanese marten, northern mink, Japanese mink, African otter, natural or blended muskrat, Chinese marmot.

Brown, short-haired furs, with a velvety texture: Northern plucked otter, northern beaver, nutria.

Brown, long-haired, fluffy furs: Fisher, wolverine, point American fox, Russian fox, Manitoba wolf, brown coney.

Black, short-haired, curly furs: Caracul, Persian lamb, Russian pony, astrakhan.

Black, long-haired furs: Black American fox, black Russian fox, black Canadian lynx, black Manitoba wolf, black raccoon, cub bear, dyed skunk, opossum, dogskin, coney.

Smoke-colored fluffy furs: Natural skunk, Sitka American fox, Russian fox, dyed raccoon, chet cat.

White furs: Ermine, Arctic white fox, Tibet lamb, sheared coney, Belgian hare.

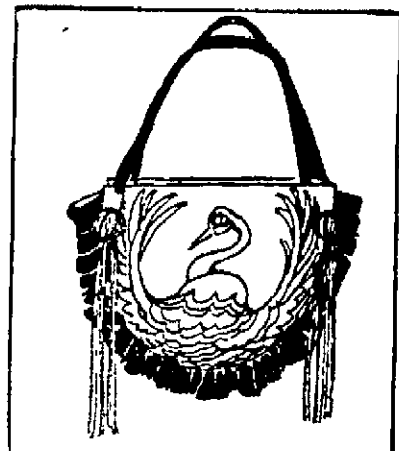

Taupe and gray-blue furs: Mole, squirrel, blue fox, dyed fox, lynx, Manitoba wolf gray fox, taupe opossum, taupe coney.

Tan, long-haired, fluffy furs: Alaska cross fox, natural raccoon, Canadian lynx, lynx cat, badger, opossum, stone marten, European and Russian fish.

Black spotted furs: Leopard, tiger, coney, leopard coney, natural wildcat.

Reddish, long-haired furs: Red fox, Manchurian dogskin, natural vicuna, red coney.

Decorative Bag Will Be Useful for Boudoir

Here is a laundry bag which will command the respect and admiration of those who have regarded the laundry receptacle as a useful, but rather uninteresting article. This decorative object for the boudoir is black taffeta, with a gorgeous yellow taffeta puff. A proud swan in white crystal beads floats between two lavish black silk tassels.

Find Silk Negligee Simple, Easy to Make

Every woman should have a silk negligee adapted to her personality. They are simple and easy to make. A plain one-piece pattern is used to cut it out. After that everything depends on the application of trimming at the right places. A wide, flowered satin ribbon may be draped over the left shoulder, coming to a low waistline on the right side and tying into a huge bow. If the material of the kimono is a coral silk the ribbon should have the coral color as a background, but could also show tones of blue, green and gold. A bertha made of the wide soft satin ribbon would be equally effective, especially if decorated at the opening with a few colorful ribbon flowers. A panel of wide soft ribbon may reach from the shoulder to the floor, the last foot lying on the floor and ending in a heavy gold tassel.

Green and Yellow Combine Well.
The combination of yellow and green is not at all unusual. Some imported models worn recently have combined these two colors with great success. A green silk knitted costume embroidered in Chinese effect with yellow was seen, also, one reversing the order—yellow embroidered in green.

The Kissometer.

An apparatus to measure the pressure of a kiss has been devised by a German scientist. His experiments involve many figures, but the main fact discovered is that men kiss harder than women!

When He Gets Sentimental

MOST men are sentimental—yes, sentimental—even after they are married. When a married woman does not do all she can to keep the good looks she had in courtship days, the husband is likely to feel hurt.

If you permit your hands to loose the soft, smooth loveliness they had before marriage, he has a right to complain, for red and coarse looking hands result from the use of common household soap—a very easy matter to correct, as countless numbers of intelligent women know.

Go to your grocer and ask for Kirkman's Soap and you will get a soap for all household and laundry purposes that is as harmless to your hands as the most exquisite toilet soap.

KIRKMAN'S Soap is free from lye to redden and roughen the skin or harm the most delicate fabrics. It is made of the purest and finest materials, and contains absolutely no adulterants such as starch, talcum powder or water glass.

JONES AND WALKER STALL 9 ROUNDS

Referee Then Stops Them For Not Trying And As Result No One Knows Who's Middletown Champion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Newark, N. J., Oct. 9.—If any one can tell today who is the welterweight champion of the wide, wide world he must be a seventh son of a seventh son and carry a crystal ball in his hip pocket.

The sad state of the welterweight division was rendered even sadder last night when a bout between Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., and Jimmy Jones of Youngstown, Ohio, was stopped midway because the New Jersey boxing authorities did not think either man was trying to fight.

Walker is considered the welterweight champion outside of New York state. Jones was considered the champion by the New York State Boxing Commission. Jones will now lose his New York title however, as the New York commission informed him before the bout that he forfeited his title when he entered the ring with Walker, who is under ban in New York. Walker likely will be barred and his title declared forfeited in New Jersey, as well as in New York.

Danny Sullivan, the referee, stopped last night's bout at the end of the ninth round of a scheduled 12 round encounter. He had previously warned the men at the end of every round from the third on, that if they didn't mix it up he would throw them out of the ring.

Fifteen thousand fans cheered the decision. They had been booing throughout the fight.

The cheering became louder when it was announced from the ringside that neither Walker or Jones would be paid their wages, but the money instead would go to the Elks fund for crippled children.

After the fight Walker said his hands were in bad condition and that he suffered pain every time he struck a blow.

It is probable the New York Commission will name a new welterweight champion, although Walker will continue to be recognized as the champion outside of New York and New Jersey.

STRENGTH OF SOME TEAMS IN MET.

Kingston loses Borgman to Paterson, but Gets Riconda, Also a Basketball Star—Brooklyn Team and Knights Also Have Strong Clubs.

In considering the merits of the various teams forming the Metropolitan Basketball League this season a number of teams must be given serious thought. Last year Paterson was not seriously figured on as a contender for the league honors by the sharps, but surprises were in store and the Paterson team came from behind and emerged triumphant. The manner in which the Paterson club fought last season won for them the admiration of the entire circuit. This season the champions will begin where they left off last spring with only one change in the lineup. Chafley Powers has been transferred to the Kingston team and in his place Elmer Ripley has been secured. Knoblauch, who is well known here, will jump center for the Paterson team. Borgman, a great loss to the local representatives, with Schwab and A. Powers, a member of last year's Kingston champions, will be in the forward positions. Ripley and Harvey, also well known to local fandom, will be in the back field with Cosgrove, Reynolds and Grosser in reserve. This aggregation will provide Paterson with a club capable of making a strong fight again for the honors.

The Brooklyn team, otherwise known as the Visitation Triangles, is another squad that must be given consideration. This quintet is composed of the Dodgers and Visitation Triangles of last year and is able to step on the floor with one of the fastest lineups in the game. Of last year's team Banks, White, Cooney and Conaty remain. To this group Joe Brennan and Bob Griebel, of the Dodgers, and Oscar Grimstead of the Elizabeth's, have been added. Banks last season looked good and it is expected that he will be the most feared forward in the circuit this season. White and Conaty will play in the other forward position with Banks and as the former is a veteran his head work should do much to keep the Triangles on a par with any of the other teams. Grimstead at center, is another veteran, crafty and cool and a good jumper. In the backfield Joe Brennan, Bob Griebel and Roddy Cooney will alternate at guards. This trio is considerably lighter than the defense on the other teams but their speed is expected to offset that advantage. With the speed of this team some of the veterans on the other clubs are expected to have a merry time when the season is in full swing.

The Knights of Greenpoint are another team to be considered as factors in the laurel race this season. With Carey and Norman in the forward positions, the Knights have two aggressive forwards, capable of dropping in baskets from any angle. Both of these players have had years of experience. George Smith at center staged a brilliant comeback last year and easily demonstrated his ability over the rest of the centers in shooting the two-timers. For a man of his height and poundage Big George is a wonder when it comes to floor work. Babe Barlow, who was responsible for the Knight's success in a great measure last year is one of the best defense stars in the game, and coupled with Trippie, the Knights are not lacking in this department. Eggerts, as utility, is capable of playing forward or guard.

The local representatives' chances for gathering in the honors this year remain to be seen. It is plainly evident after reviewing the above teams' plunders that Manager Morgenweck will have a harder time this season than last in the N. Y. State League. Of course, the local representatives have lost a wonderful player in Benny Borgman, who was a mountain of help in the success of last year. But Harry Riconda, although never popular here, was nevertheless considered a wonder in the game. Barney Sedran, the other new member who will try and fill Borgman's shoes, is a veteran, but nevertheless always dangerous. The ability of some of the above players are known to local fandom but George Artus and Harry Riconda on the defense with Charlie Powers at center and Carl Husta and Sedran looks pretty good, and especially good to those who saw them work last season.

How to tell for sure —what oil your car needs

No. 9 in the series

Perhaps you own a Maxwell

If you don't own a Maxwell, cut this out and hand it to a friend who does

The late model Maxwell engines are designed with force feed lubricating systems in which oil is forced under pressure to the three main bearings. Holes drilled in the crankshaft carry the oil under pressure from the main bearings to the connecting rod bearings. The other moving parts are lubricated by the oil mist which is created when the oil is forced out through the close clearances at the ends of the connecting rod bearings.

The oil circulating pump is of the impeller type and is located at the camshaft level, drawing its supply through a pipe connecting with a strainer in the oil reservoir.

Aluminum pistons of the constant clearance type are employed. The skirt or bearing part of this type of piston is slotted on one side to provide for expansion under heat and therefore permits the use of close clearances. In addition, horizontal slots are cut through the piston below the lower ring to permit the free return of oil from the cylinder walls.

With the effective control of the oil supply which is secured by this oil return provision on the pistons, the possibility of carbon formation is minimized. In addition, the characteristics of aluminum as a piston material tend to prevent the fuel knock which often occurs when carbon deposits accumulate.

Where natural circulation of the cooling water (thermo-siphon system) is employed as in the Maxwell design, it is desirable to use in warm weather an oil which is suitable for fairly high operating temperatures. Such an oil will be thoroughly atomized and distributed by the Maxwell lubricating system under the conditions of summer operation.

To assure circulation of the lubricating oil in cold weather, the use of an oil which flows freely at low temperatures is necessary because of the elevated location of the oil pump with its long connection to the oil reservoir.

To meet correctly these and other important lubrication features of the Maxwell design, we recommend for the 1922 and 1923 models, the use of Gargyle Mobiloil "A" in summer and Gargyle Mobiloil Arctic in winter. For the 1921 and earlier models, Gargyle Mobiloil Arctic should be used both summer and winter.

NEHF AND HOYT TO PITCH OPENER

For the Yankees Much Hinges on Tomorrow's Game—If They Lose
They May Take Rest "Sitting Down."

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman
New York, Oct. 9.—Although neither manager will commit himself on the subject, it is now understood that McGraw will send Art Neff out for a left handed inaugural of the world's series tomorrow and that Huggins will counter with Walter Hoyt. These pitchers are the almost unanimous choice of the players of their respective teams and while McGraw and Huggins are not given to reaching their decisions via the general intelligence of the dugout, they are believed to have concurred in this instance.

It was Huggins' intention to use Sam Jones in the opening game but has thought better of it. Jones is a very smart curve ball pitcher but he cannot come back like Hoyt and it is a law of the series that the opening pitcher must be prepared to return for more not later than the fourth day. In the 1921 series, Hoyt pitched twenty-seven innings against the Giants without allowing an earned run. He is a certain starter tomorrow, in the writer's opinion.

Neff is not a great repeater, largely because of his snap delivery, which places an undue strain on his arm. Yet Neff is almost certain to be McGraw's man because Scott and McQuillan have slightly sore arms and confidence is not altogether established in the ability of Bentley and Ryan. Neff has had the honor of starting the 1921 and 1922 series and gave a very planible exhibition in each instance, although he failed to last against the Yanks on the second occasion.

With Hoyt out of the way, Huggins probably will nominate Jones for the second game. Pennock for the third and Hoyt again for the fourth and seventh, if played, with Shawkey, Bush and Jones ready to pitch the fifth and sixth games. It is usually a simple matter to forecast what the worthy Miller will do because he seems to be sold on the geometric idea that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points.

With McGraw, one must be prepared to expect the unexpected. At any moment, he might step out with Jack Bentley, possibly in the second game, or John Watson, with Scott pitching the third, McQuillan the fourth, Neff the fifth and so on. And by the same token, he may opt the series with Scott and follow with McQuillan, leaving Neff with only one game on his capable hands. At any rate, the sore-arm story can be accepted or rejected for exactly what it is worth.

The outcome of the entire series hinges on the result of the opening game, as matters stand. If the Yankees lose, they may bring themselves to believe that it is only a repetition of the 1921 and 1922 games and take the rest of the series sitting down. If they win, they will be very hard to stop through the remaining games.

PHOENICIA

Phoenicia, Oct. 9.—A regular whirlwind took a narrow sweep through the place Thursday. A ribbon trail of leaves followed like a great train while the trees themselves seemed to go around. The several frosts have tined the leaves which with their process of coloring matter, tell us plainly autumn is here and passing to its full. The days are growing shorter and we are glad of the old time hour of the morning although we see the difference the other way in the evening as the daylight saving brought it. The wild aster is plentiful along the wayside. One lone buttercup and several dandelions were in bloom. A few juncos were sitting about. Last week a couple of peepers were heard on different days. Making quite a variety when we add a heavy electrical storm with its heavy thunder pounding along over the mountains.

Adrian Loomis is in charge of the freight depot here in place of R. Smith of Mt. Pleasant.

J. Elvy and wife, Mrs. Conley and A. Neal enjoyed a trip to Pennsylvania where they visited relatives. They also had a pleasant trip to Atlantic City as did also Mr. and Mrs. H. Neal and family.

Mrs. G. Kenney and Mrs. Tyler entertained the M. E. Aid at the home of Mrs. Kenney Thursday. At the close of the business meeting, very nice refreshments were served. The Aid was nicely entertained with several piano selections by Mrs. Kenney's nieces.

The Rev. W. Meeker and Mrs. Meeker are on a vacation for two weeks. The special meetings will open Sunday evening at Chichester. Cars will be in readiness to take anyone up. Every one is invited to attend. All do their part in making the meetings helpful ones inspiring us to a more religious earnestness that we may be an example honoring God and that others may be helped by following.

Katherine Leming nicely entertained a company of friends who surprised her one evening. After music and games very nice refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Katherine Johnson, Clara and Minnie Simpson, Verna Leo, Gertrude Short, Ruby and Leo Everett, Lucile, Mary and Susie Broekema, Elizabeth Warren, Valeria Cornley and Miss Kerr.

W. Malloy and family have moved in part of Mr. Voss's house. Mrs. Bush and her mother, Mrs. Andrews, moving in the house vacated by them.

All were glad to see Mrs. Merri-hew again in this place for a call. A few cases of whooping cough still remain, the many having passed through the period and are now just about free of the cough.

If report is true we may soon have a dentist here too. It would prove very convenient all around and for the many outside of the vicinity.

Mrs. E. Short and daughter Gertrude are spending some time in Hackensack.

Miss Mary Van Steenburgh had a very pleasant trip to Redbank, N. J. The white scale is affecting the pine and seems to be becoming a serious blight. There is an underlying cause due to changed economic conditions causing an "inroad" in the chestnut cedar and pine. The preventive measure in destroying the cedar does not promise to counteract this or touch the principle involved.

A very pleasant social and business meeting was held Monday evening, October 1. Plans are being formed to hold one later and have a new membership enrollment. There are several to become members of the Epworth League.

The many who attended the Sunday evening opening meeting at Chichester enjoyed it as helpful and giving religious thought. The large chorus choir rendered two selections and also joined in the singing of the congregation. Messrs. Crosby, Toms, Kaier and Bennett sang a male quartet. The Rev. Ahrens gave a pointed sermon on taking the Christ and what Christianity stood for, and of service for others.

Karl Neice has a dandy rabbit hound. It came from a kennel. The frost Sunday night killed the tomatoes and other like vines. Miss Neal of West Chestnut street, Kingston, visited relatives here, Mrs. J. Elvy.

Mr. and Mrs. Koene are enjoying their touring trip very much. At Petersburg, Va., they had the pleasure of noting the historic city from different standpoints. Also the novelty of passing through fields of cotton as well as of peanuts. Monday they left the city for White Sulphur Springs.

The league will hold a food sale in the near future. Verna Boice has returned after spending a few days out of town. Mrs. Leming has returned after spending a few days out of town. Mrs. Leming entertained over a week end her aunt, Mrs. Hicks, of Kingston.

The Klucade House will be closed for the winter, Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid and father returning to Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will spend the winter in Florida as they did last season.

The Phoenicia Hotel will close early next month. We trust Mr. Ehemendorf will completely regain his health as he has not fully recovered after having the serious illness during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoyt have moved to West Hurley. They will be much missed from the place.

Bolls are returning to this section the same as last year and many are afflicted with not only one but several. Those having just two are in luck. Some are like baby caruncles bolls on the neck.

GARDEN PARTY AT THE BIGELOW HOMESTEAD.

Resolutions of Sympathy For Japan Adopted.

Mr. and Mrs. Poultney Bigelow held their annual garden party last Saturday at the Bigelow homestead, Malden-on-Hudson, many friends attending from this section and from New York. During the afternoon a resolution of sympathy was offered for Japan by Rear Admiral Frank Higginson, U. S. N., seconded in an elegant address by former Justice Atton B. Parker and unanimously adopted.

Letters of regret were received from the Japanese ambassador at Washington and also from Col. Robert M. Thompson, president of the American Olympic committee in Paris, whose sympathy and interest in Japanese affairs is well known. During the garden party there was a pageant in which one of the floats represented, Commodore Perry and his staff, the day being the seventieth anniversary of the American's entry into Japanese waters.

VACUUM OIL COMPANY

ZEPPELIN PLANT MAY MOVE HERE

It ZR-3 Makes Successful Trip Across Atlantic—Nothing Certain In Germany, However.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Friedrichshafen-Am-Bodensee, Oct. 9.—The Zeppelin Airship Company, which is building the dirigible ZR-3 for the United States Navy may transfer its gigantic plant from Germany to the United States. If the ZR-3 proves a success and crosses the Atlantic without mishap, it was learned here today at the seat of the works.

Zeppelin officials admitted they would like to transfer their works to the United States. Already a company is being organized to finance such a project contingent upon the success of the ZR-3.

Unfortunately, obstacles have delayed construction and it will be next spring before the ZR-3 is ready for trials. It is hoped that she may be ready to start for Lakehurst, N. J., about June. If the ship fails, the company will be handicapped for years because of lack of funds and materials in Germany.

The ZR-3 is the 12th airship the Zeppelin company has produced and officials boast they never lost one from constructional defects.

This latest model, (the ZR-3) which is called the best of them all and includes many new ideas for comfort and efficiency, will have to meet a task never before attempted. There is a possibility that all plans will go astray and that the ZR-3 may never be called upon to face a voyage of nearly four thousand miles from lower Germany to New Jersey. Conditions are such in Germany that one cannot predict what will take place during the winter. Bavaria and the balance of the German state are at loggerheads; communists are active and secessionists in the Rhineland, with the aid of France, are trying to establish a separate republic. Labor all over Germany is restless and airship craftsmen are no exception. A strike might ruin the whole venture.

SPECULATORS' PYRAMID WORLD'S SERIES PRICES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 9.—Speculators today were offering reserved tickets for the world's series at prices ranging from twice to three times their box office value. From the number of tickets sold they had on hand, it was apparent that they experienced slight difficulty in gaining possession of them, in spite of the watchfulness exercised by the local ball clubs. The demand has not been brisk to date, but the scalpers anticipate a last minute rush.

All reserved seats for the Yankee games have been sold but some 35,000 unreserved tickets will be placed on sale and the grounds each day. It was announced. The Giants still have some reserved tickets on their hands, but the supply had dwindled rapidly today.

FEET INDEX TO CHARACTER

Pedal Extremities While at Table in Restaurant Reveal Owners' Inner Selves.

Have you ever noticed people's feet while they are eating? asks the New York Sun and Globe. Best index to character available. Observation by a quick-lunch palatium will bear this out. The diners carefully watch their manipulation of silver, arrangement of fingers from thumb to "pinkie," angle of head to table, and diameter of the mouth opening to receive the food.

Few pay any attention to their feet, and accordingly, there's the place where their true inner selves step out and betray the jealously guarded secret of their ego.

The man who keeps his feet flat on the floor, straight in front of him, is a rare specimen. He's a practical, hard-headed business man who stands for no nonsense and leaves a nickel tip.

The girl who sits with the toes of one foot turned at an impossible angle to the toes of her other foot is an incurable romanticist, and like as not is reading "Love Stories" while extracting nourishment from a chocolate russet sort of pastry. She'll probably leave two tips, or no tip, and start to walk out without paying her check.

A precise person, who probably whistles his s's and is immaculate in appearance, always aware of everything but never known to smile, sits with ankles daintily crossed. If the owner of the ankles is a girl, she does not betray violent enthusiasm for her food, no matter how hungry she may be, but like clockwork regulates her chewing, swallows of water and movement of her eyelashes. The scatterbrain can be recognized in an instant. He probably has one foot wrapped around the leg of a chair and the other trespassing into territory on the other side of the table. He doesn't know whether it's his own foot or his neighbor's foot that is hurt when a chair steps on it, but smiles with equal foolishness one way or the other.

The man who crosses his legs at the knees while eating has no interest in his lunch. He eats because it's part of his daily program, but would be just as well pleased if he never ate. His mind is on the office.

Every one knows the individual whose feet are well out in the aisle, where the waiter and patrons fall over them. He's inconsiderate, a bully at home, and ready to snarl at a moment's notice.

The best of all is the tomboy sort of girl, who parks both heels on the bottom rung of her chair, and starts to sway back and forth if the waiter is slow about the order. She's a good sport and if she ever forgets her purse, the cashier will be willing to trust her until tomorrow, something that no other patron would get if he were introduced by J. P. Morgan himself.—New York Sun and Globe.

Logical.

A teacher of music in a public school was trying to impress upon her pupils the meaning of "F" and "F" in a song that they were about to learn. After explaining the first sign, she said: "Now, children, what do you say if 'F' means 'forte' what does 'F' mean?" "Eighty!" shouted one enthusiastic pupil.—Youth's Companion.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kels.

When the burned automobile of Alex Kels, wealthy Lodi (Cal.) man, was found near his home and a charred body was found in it, it was believed Kels had been killed by robbers and his car fired. The body was buried, and Kels was mourned by his many friends. But the insurance company knew Kels had eaten sardines just before his "death," and an autopsy showed no sardines in the dead man's body. A quiet police search ended in the arrest of Kels, who confessed he murdered an unidentified man and burned his body so his wife could collect $100,000 insurance. His wife, an expectant mother, has not been told her husband is alive.

Romantic Brittany

Little Girls of Pont L'Abbe, Brittany.

WITH THE FUNNY MEN

PLEASE REMEMBER

Little Margery wished to talk over the telephone with her mother, who was visiting a friend, so her elder sister gave her the phone number and let her call the exchange.

It was such a lovely talk that Margery was impatient to hear her mother's voice again over the wire.

A few days after this conversation, when the mother was paying another visit to the same friend, the elder sister overheard Margery at the telephone. Exchange evidently had been asking for the number and Margery was explaining vehemently:

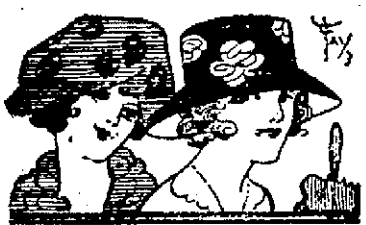

"Exchange, I want the number I had Thursday. Don't you understand? The same number."

Sufficient Indorsement.

"Do you feel that your efforts to serve your country are appreciated?"

"I don't complain," replied Senator Sorghum, "so long as the folks keep on re-electing me. About all a good many of us can hope for these days is an admission from our constituents that they might have done worse."—Washington Star.

AFTER THE QUARREL

"Do you think I'd take him? He's like poison to me!"

"Are you sure you have no suicidal tendencies, my dear?"

No Longer.

"The honeymoon lasts I should say," quoth Dick "As long as the kiss retains its kick."

Willie's Guess.

Visitor—How do you do, Willie? I've come to stay at your house a week and I'm sure you can't even guess who I am.

Willie—I'll bet one thing.

Visitor—What?

Willie—I'll bet you're no relation of father's.

Nearing His Figure.

"Jack, dear, you love me more than anything else in the world, don't you?"

"Of course."

"And you wouldn't give me up for a million dollars?"

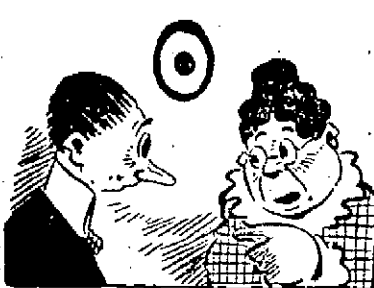

"Hm! Has anybody offered that?"—Boston Evening Transcript.

Fast Work.

A lady who had just received an interesting bit of news said to her little daughter: "Marjorie, dear, auntie has a new baby, and now mamma is the baby's aunt, papa is the baby's uncle, and you are her little cousin."

"Well," said Marjorie, wondering, "wasn't that arranged quick!"

TO THE POINT

Applicant for Board—And, Mrs. Hash, I pay as I go.

Mistress of House—Very good, sir; my rule is: Pay, or you'll go.

Can You Beat It?

Because they've had too little speed. A lot of men have failed. And yet for having too much speed. A lot of men are failed.

Thoughtful Man.

Mr. Jones—Did the plumber fix the pipes in the bathroom?

Mrs. Jones—He isn't through yet. He found a couple of cockroaches and went back to the shop for a can of insect powder.

Just Epidermal.

Modiste—But madame, ze gown is a little daring, but exquisite.

Mrs. Bannon—But why do you charge so much for it when I—er—furnish most of the material?

The Sportive Existence.

"Life is a lottery."

"Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins. "Even a plain person like myself keeps watching the price sign at the gasoline station to see whether a luckier number won't come out."

Lovable Child.

"Are you fond of children?"

"I love the little one next door. It never cries except when his family plays the phonograph."

Force of Habit.

"She's a bargain hunter, isn't she?"

"Yes, she even picked out a husband whose reputation was slightly damaged."

ONLY A DETAIL

Little Jackie was spending a holiday in the country and was highly entertained by everything he saw in the barn and farmyard.

The old red hen's cockle to announce that she had laid an egg was a never-failing source of delight. He always wanted someone to get the egg immediately.

One day he was allowed the privilege of going all by himself to fetch the treasure.

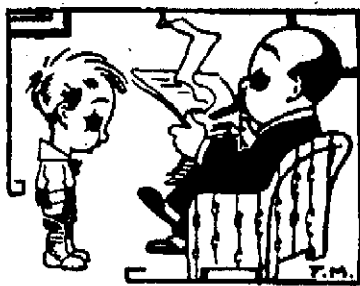

In a few minutes he came running back excitedly, but his eagerness was too great. He tripped and fell.

In a minute his hands and blouse were smeared with yellow as he clutched bits of broken shell.

But he came up smiling to his mother.

"Oh, mummy," he cried, as he held up the fragments, "I had a fall, but it's all right, 'cause I didn't lose anything only the juice!"

AS WILLIE HEARD IT

Guess Mr. Brown'll be disappointed with his trip, pa."

"Why, Willie?"

"He said he was only going for the week, but knew he'd get strong."

Dish-honored.

He often looks disheveled. It makes one feel suspicious. That when he looks disheveled, his wife has been throwing dishes.

Time Up.

"What's the matter, mate?"

"Old Bill fell from the scaffolding and just managed to catch a plank and hold on."

"Was he saved?"

"No, the whistle blew five o'clock and it was time to knock off, so he let go."

Solved.

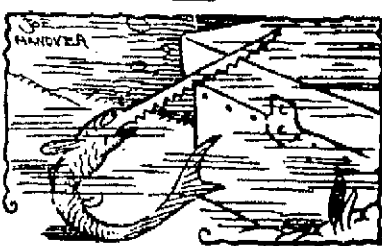

"Doctor, can you cure me from snoring?"

"Do you only snore in your sleep?"

"Yes, but I snore so loud that I awaken myself!"

"Well, the best thing is to sleep in another room."

EASY FOR HIM

One of the advantages of being a sawfish, is cutting open these sunken treasure chests—heh! heh!

Lesson in Art.

"This drawing of the horse is good."

The critic said who saw it.

"But where's the wagon?" replied the horse's owner.

A Thing That Rarely Falls.

Madge—Then you believe in marrying for money?

Marle—Oh, I wouldn't say that exactly; but when you marry a man it's just as well to know for sure that there's something about him you will always like.

Was and Is.

"Will you appraise my engagement ring for me?"

"What kind of a stone is this supposed to be?" asked the jeweler.

"Turkwahs."

"Turk was, maybe, but not now. This is glass."

Careful Information.

"Excuse me, sir, but could you tell me if there is a man staying in this hotel with one eye named John Hardy?"

"I don't recognize him from your description. Do you know the name of his other eye?"

Learned Too Early.

"She's an excellent swimmer and only twelve years old."

"Yes, poor dear. She should have waited a few years and not deprived some man of the fun of teaching her."

DOMESTIC BLISS.

Wife—I saw the dearest little hat today.

Hubby—That's just like you—always looking for the dearest instead of the moderately priced.

You've Listened to Her.

I have no use for Missus Walkers. She is one of these non-stop talkers.

Really Unpleasant.

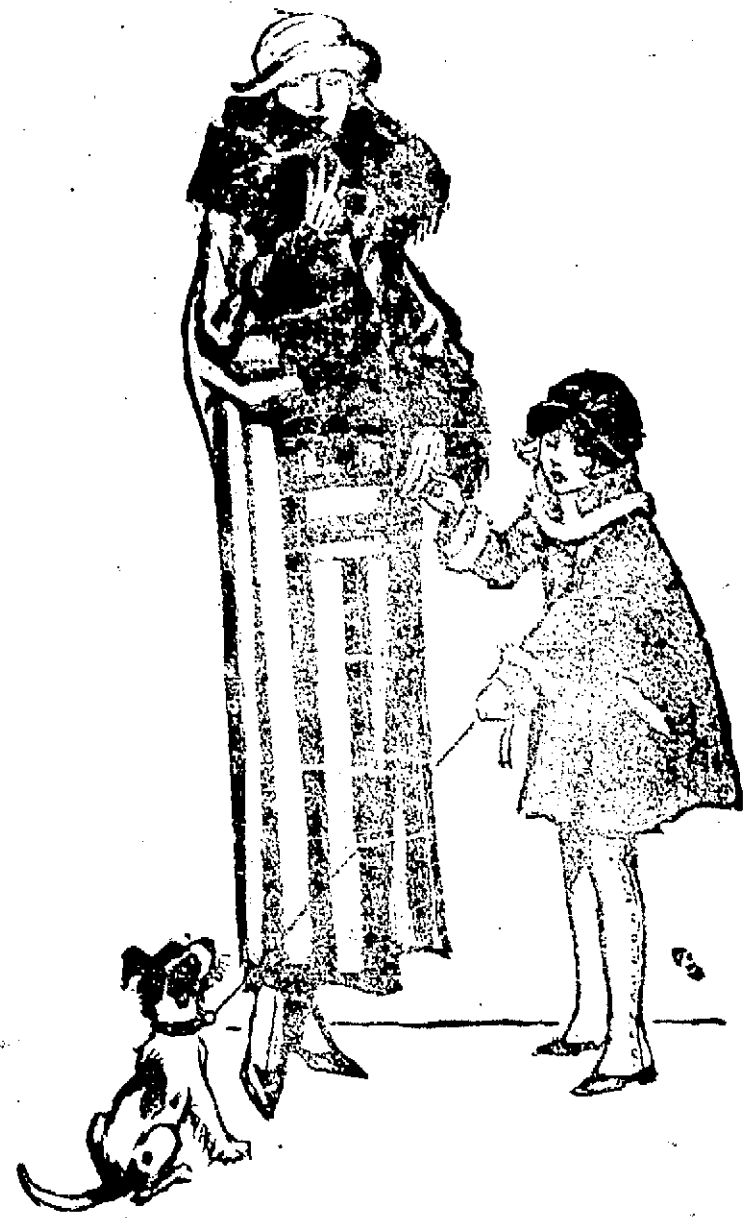

Miss Wellalong—I declare, I begin to feel that I am growing old. It's really unpleasant.

Mr. Blunt—It must be, especially for one who has been young so long.

Trial by Jury.

"Is the distinguished lawyer looking up authorities?"

"No, we have marked a few jokes for him to use on the jury. He has no sense of humor himself."

Moving troops by airplane.

For the first time in history troops have been transported by airplane from one part of a battlefield for emergency in another. The latest method of troop movement was introduced by the United States Marine Corps maneuvers in Virginia, when huge Martin bombers carried the men, their arms and equipment to a section of the battlefield where the "enemy" was about to break through.

FREDDIE DAHN LEADS COLONIALS

In Individual Batting Average—See McCue and Coyle Hit Over .300—Rankin in Few Games Hits .458.

The Colonial baseball team has ended the season of 1923 with very satisfactory results. In compiling the batting averages of the players for the season, Freddie Dahn, the hard working outfielder, leads with a percentage of .327. Freddie had hard luck the latter part of the season and was out of the game with injuries for some time. Dahn came to the Colonials the latter part of the season of 1922 from Poughkeepsie and has played in seventy-two games this year. Besides being a good hitter Dahn is a valuable fielder.

In the twenty-three games played with the Colonials Chad See is next with a percentage of .322. McCue and Bobby Coyle are each hitting over the three hundred mark with a percentage each of .311.

In the seven games played with the Colonials Tubby Rankin hit at a clip of .458.

COLONIAL INFIELD AVERAGE IS .935

Fogarty, Forsythe and Bobby Coyle Lead Regular Players in Fielding—Rice, Dugan and Perry Field Perfectly Together With a Long List of Players in a Few Games.

Fogarty, Forsythe and Bobby Coyle lead the players on the Colonial baseball club for the season 1923 in fielding efficiency. Fogarty out of 32 chances erred twice, a percentage of .935. Forsythe had seventy-seven chances and handled them with but one flaw for a percentage of .987. Bobby Coyle is next with .985. Bobby had a very good year. Out of 512 chances he was chalked up with 14 errors. Some of the large number of Coyle's chances were exceedingly difficult, making Coyle one of Schirck's most valuable men.

Artie Rice, Dugan and Perry had a perfect fielding average in the games they were in. There is also a large list of 1,000 per cent players who were in games but once or twice.

The Colonial outfield during the season was fielded by a large squad and therefore justly no regular players could be named. But the infield has been intact. Robins, Coyle, Deegan, Russell and McCue. These boys for their year's work made a very creditable showing with an average of .935. Considering the number of games and the strength of the opposition, this figure will stand examination by any baseball organization.

The fielding averages of players who came under Coach Schirck's commands for the season of 1923 are as follows:

APPEALED TO THEIR HUMOR

Theatergoers Unable to Appreciate Shakespeare's Characters Arrayed in Modern Garb.

In Birmingham, England, the other day an experiment in dramatic art, intended to prove that Shakespeare's plays were greater than any representation of them, ended in a ludicrous fiasco. What the experiment proved was that, unless the characters are garbed according to the accepted traditions, the lines and situations created even by the master mind of the world's greatest dramatist have no power to impress a modern audience.

The play chosen for the purpose was "Cymbeline," staged in a country that never existed. Therefore, argued the promoters, they were free to garb the characters in any way they pleased, and so the characters appeared in the modern dress of the present day.

A company of scholarly actors had been assembled to play the parts and all other stage traditions carefully attended to. But Shakespeare in a twinkling failed to get across. The audience saw only the funny side of the unexpected costumes and laughed at the most dramatic incidents and tittered at the actors' most poetic and inspirational utterances.

Which seems to confirm the attitude of the motion-picture producer—that dramatic art appeals more to the eye than to the intellect.—Los Angeles Times.

TO HAVE SUCCESS IN LIFE

Charles M. Schwab Names Qualities Which It Is Imperative One Must Possess.

"If I were asked to name the most important things that lead to a successful life," Charles M. Schwab is quoted in The Business Woman as saying, "I should say, first of all was integrity—unimpeachable integrity. No one can ever do anything of great value in life, and have the confidence and approval of his fellow men, or be successful in his undertakings with other business people, if he does not have the reputation of being a person of honor and integrity. This is the very foundation of a successful life."

"Another important thing is loyalty. Be loyal to the people with whom you associate at the start. Make your employer feel that you are sincere with him; that you are going to promote his interests; that you are going to stand for the things he represents, and that will reap you a richer reward. Loyalty above all!"

"Be friends with everybody. When you have friends, you know there is somebody who will stand by you. Lead a life that will make you kindly and friendly to everyone about you, and you will be surprised at what a happy life you will lead.

"These things secure opportunity. That secured, there comes the need of good judgment, which is one of the prime requisites for enduring success."

Tobacco Will Rout Pest.
The melon and cucumber beetle, the striped little pest now causing pangs of disappointment and rage in the hearts of gardeners, amateur and otherwise, is an anti-tobacco leaguer. He hates the weed, so fight him with nicotine or tobacco dust, says the Department of Agriculture.

If the Just be sprinkled over the young plants the beetles will seek pasture elsewhere. Also they will depart if the plants be given tight veils of mosquito netting until they grow big and strong enough to fight their own battles. If these measures are adopted by an entire community, and accompanied by the use of trap plants, suitably poisoned with arsenate of lead or bordeaux mixture, both, the numbers of the enemy will be greatly reduced and homegrown "cukes" and melons enjoyed by and by, says the department.—Science Service.

Within Bounds.

A young man set out for the first time to get orders in the west of England.

At Plymouth he met an old commercial traveler, who asked him how he had got on.

"Badly," he replied. "I was insulted at every place I visited."

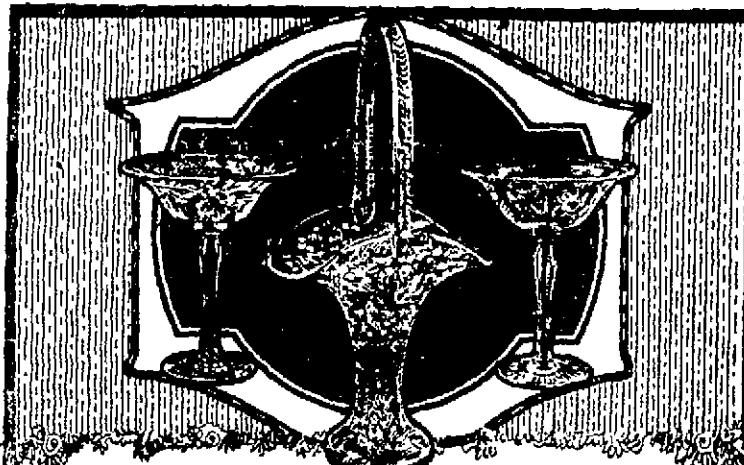

"That's strange," said the other. "I have been on the road 40 years; I have had my samples flung into the street; I have been taken by the scruff of the neck and pitched downstairs; I don't deny that I have been rolled in the gutter, but insulted, never!"

Quebec Gold Fields.

Information coming out by mail from prospectors in the new gold fields of northwestern Quebec is to the effect that the rush has shown no abatement, and that the movement is general toward the east. Some staking is taking place in the township of Clercy, around Clercy lake, but the greater staking is along the Kenogawis river, and extending away off toward the east.

RUTH HITS HOMERS EASILY

AT THE POLO GROUNDS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 9.—Babe Ruth, slugger extraordinary of the New York Yankees, declared today that he could have hit eighty home runs had the Yankees remained at the Polo Grounds for the season last closed.

"That is an easy park to hit homers in," he declared. "I never realized how close that right field wall was until we moved over to our own field. That right field is a cinch. Only a pop fly and it is in. I would have hit eighty homers there this year without trouble."

Ruth hit more than a dozen balls into the right field stands at the Polo Grounds yesterday while the Yankees were indulging in a world series workout.

The Florida beach and blue sea looked inviting to the tourist from the North, but before venturing out to swim he thought to make sure.

"You're certain there are no alligators here?" he inquired of the guide. "Nossur," replied that functionary, grinning broadly. "Ain' no 'gators hyah."

Reassured, the tourist started out. As the water lapped about his chest he called back: "What makes you so sure there aren't no alligators?"

"Dey's got too much sense," belied the guide. "De sharks done skeered dem all away."—American Legion Weekly.
